Local Foot Ball Team Wins From Old Rivals at Charlevoix

The pig skin manipulators of the high school staged a fast and interesting game at Charlevoix last Friday afternoon and incidentally showed that they could "come back" after a bad defeat at the hands of Boyne City. For several years the locals have been unable to defeat Charlevoix on their home grounds, but this time they vindicated themselves and played their opponents off their feet from the first whistle.

Charlevoix won the toss and chose to defend the west goal, thereby having the advantage of a stiff breeze and the sun at their backs. Cross kicked off for East Jordan and Durrance of Charlevoix ran the ball back to the 45 yard line where he was tackled by Milford and was slightly injured by a cut over the eye. This was soon taken care of and proved to be the only injury received during the game. After failing to gain through the line Charlevoix punted and the local team recovered the ball and began a march for the goal line which resulted in a touchdown by Cross. Goal kick failed and the score was 6 to 0 for visitors. In a few minutes more Milford manipulated another touchdown from a fake formation, making the score 12 to 0 in the first eight minutes of play. Then Charlevoix worked a successful forward pass, Butler to Cartier and the latter proved too fast for the East Jordan defense and the play resulted in a touchdown. Charlevoix kicked goal and the score was 12 to 7.

By this time the local boys had begun to play good ball and scores followed in quick succession, Charlevoix being unable to stop the line plunging of Cross and the open field work of the other backs and ends of the visitors. The game ended with East Jordan on the big end of a 31 to 7 score.

This game showed that the high school has a team which should give any other team in this part of the state a run for its money. Every player on the team played a good game and the defensive work of Giffin and Dicken was remarkable, both being sure tacklers and never failing to get their man. On offensive Cross and Milford made most of the gains, good work being done also by Dicken, Porter and Nachazel. Several forward passes were gathered in by Lalonde and Giffin which resulted in long gains. Fowler at center is a strong defensive player and when needed can stop many of the opponents plays before they are under way. Cummins and Jones at guards and Jepson at right tackle made up a line which Charlevoix found too strong to gain through.

The game was clean throughout, the local boys offending by rough play only a few times and rarely losing their heads. With one or two exceptions the Charlevoix boys also proved to be good sportsmen but theirs was the usual rowdy element present among the spectators.

Principal Asletine of Charlevoix was the referee. The return game will be played with Charlevoix at the ball grounds on the Commons this Friday afternoon, Oct. 13, at 3:30 p. m. If you like to see a good clean sport, don't miss this game. The local team is out to win but will guarantee you a fast and clean game if you will attend.

The faster a man's gait the sooner misfortune overtakes him. Nothing ever takes such a hard fall out of worry as hard labor.

Much happiness or misery lies within the circle of a wedding ring.

The man who weds an old flame often finds that she has a red-hot temper.

We all have a soft spot in our heads at birth—and some always retain it.

An old bachelor says that the vocalization at a wedding is even more depressing than the singing at a funeral.

A woman dislikes to find her first gray hair almost as badly as a man dislikes to part with his last one.

Comparatively few people remain in the self-satisfied class after they once get acquainted with themselves.

When a man and woman argue the woman invariably gets the last word; but when two women argue it's always a draw.

It is said that in India a widow is burned with her late husband. In this country a widow takes another and roasts him.

School Commissioner's Notes

May L. Stewart, Commissioner

Too busy now to do much talking. Seventeen visits made last week.

Boyne Valley teachers met at Boyne Falls on Wednesday. Only one teacher absent.

Hudson teachers met at the Hudson townhall on Friday. All present but one. All had to face difficulties to get to the meeting.

The Hudson Township Mother's Club held an open meeting on Friday, Oct. 6th at the Hoffman school house. There was an active and thoughtful crowd present. The Com'r spoke at length on conditions in that locality, the ideal school, and what the unit system would mean in Hudson township. Delicious coffee and sandwiches were served after the program.

Visits in Boyne Valley found that the Boyne Falls village schools had provided a new boiler for the heating system, had retinted all four rooms, and oiled the floors, and varnished the seats. They have engaged an assistant high school teacher this year to make possible the eleven grade system and next to complete a twelve grade course. There is no reason why this high school should not draw from all the surrounding country in its future enrollment if it steps to the front in improvement and course of study.

The Slaughter school is clothed in a new dress of glossy varnish and fresh paint. A bank of windows at the left affords them a glass area equal to about one-fifth of the floor area. Providing warm cloak room and a supervised hall way is the only correction worthy of note standing between them and a "Standard Plate."

There are some very good schools in the east of this county and everything is going finely.

The Clinton school, Hudson No. 5, has installed a floor warmer system and ventilator put out by the Round Oak Co. This district suffered a severe loss by fire two years ago and should be given special credit for the hold which they have taken of things in the brief time which they have had in which to recuperate.

The Heart Lake school in Hudson No. 4, has been repainted, reshingled and the interior tinted in approved shades.

There has been an undercurrent of thought to the effect that Hudson and Boyne Valley are a lonely lumbering country. To be sure in many cases the schools are small but, say, for equipment and school spirit they will make some of our schools nearer town sit up and take notice.

Report your truancy, teachers, check it and double check it. After a case has been in the truant officer's hands once report directly to him. The law is going to be enforced and it is up to you.

Home credit verily booming. 98 parents out of every one hundred boosting for this method of co-operation. Of course the system has been made compulsory by requiring these credits before a child can be promoted but for the big majority of teachers and parents this clause would not have been necessary. The teachers have all been boosters and the parents have proved to be monarchs behind their thrones. Our boys and girls have shown an almost unbelievable energy.

The "Home Rule" Amendment

Proposed Amendment to be Known as Section 30 of Article VIII

"Section 30. Every incorporated city, every incorporated village and every organized township (meaning thereby all that part of a township outside the limits of an incorporated city or village located partly or wholly therein) shall each have the right to determine by a majority vote of the electors thereof, whether or not there shall be prohibited therein the manufacture and sale of malt, brewed, fermented, vinous, distilled or intoxicating liquors.

THE "JOKER"

Appropriate legislation shall be enacted to enforce and make effective the provisions of this section and until such legislation is enacted, existing local option regulatory laws on this subject shall continue in force; but no existing law inconsistent with the provisions of this section shall continue in force after Jan. 1, 1919."

The "Joker" is so worded as to void the prohibition amendment should both amendments carry. Dry voters will vote "Yes" on the prohibition amendment and "No" on the above.

To reduce the unit as the "Home Rule" proposes, will merely magnify the only weakness of the county local option law, making it possible to vote a city dry and surrounding townships wet, or vice versa.

JEALOUSY AMONG MEN OF THE AIR

New Feature of Army Life Develops in Expedition Into Mexico.

NO FRENCH EFFUSION HERE

Casual Young Tempters of Destruction Relax Not a Bit in Greeting Pilots After Dangerous Voy- age Over Desert.

Headquarters American Punitive Expedition, Mexico.—There is a rather matured story told to illustrate the pride a man may take in his work and how apt he is to be extremely jealous of that work. It relates how two street sweepers were discussing the merits of a deceased member of their craft.

"Jake was a mighty handy man with the brush," declared the first sweeper in an effort of praise.

"Yes," said the other, slowly, "he was that. But now that he's gone, Hank, don't you think he was just a little weak around the lamp posts?"

There should be asterisks or something here, because the scene shifts suddenly to "somewhere in Mexico," and those who follow this narration find themselves on the aviation field at the edge of headquarters camp, the day a relief aeroplane is expected to arrive. Her starting point is a military secret, but it is sufficient to say that she would complete a journey of 150 miles by the time she glided to the ground at this camp.

Finally, far over the mountain range, the machine was sighted. The aviator was having a rough time of it, caught in the swirls and eddies that suck up out of the rough mountain country. Then the machine fought clear and hovered over the field, apparently seeking a place to alight. Finally the machine made a sudden swoop, struck the roughest part of the field, bumped badly, skidded and tipped, but finally righted itself and rolled to a standstill.

How They Were Greeted.

The aviator assigned to headquarters strolled leisurely out to greet the newcomer. They reached the machine as he and the observer were climbing stiffly from their seats and unbuttoning leather jackets. One felt that it was a moment in which these casual young tempters of destruction might relax a bit. In France, one imagined, there might be an embrace, at least. Probably a slight peck on the cheek. Jake had really shown that he was a mighty handy man with the brush.

But did they relax? Here is what happened? "Hello," said the headquarters aviator.

"Howdy," replied the visiting pilot. There followed a keen survey of the visiting machine.

"Bum rudder wheel," said the headquarters aviator.

The visitor said nothing, but peeled off his jacket and picked up the mail bag.

"How long did it take you to make the trip?" asked the headquarters flier.

"Exactly an hour and a half," stated the visitor, somewhat proudly.

"We did it in an hour and twenty-eight minutes," returned the headquarters aviator.

"Of course we lost a lot of time in that storm," said the visitor.

"But you had a stiff wind behind you," retorted headquarters. "How much weight did you carry?"

"About 3,400 pounds."

"We carried 3,700 and a lot of extra equipment."

No Boost Here.

Another sour inspection of the visiting plane, accompanied by uplifted eyebrows on the part of the second headquarters man, who finally asked: "How is that new patent adjuster working?"

"Great," responded the visitor, encouraged.

"We get along fine without it," said headquarters.

The visitor surveyed the headquarters men a moment quizzically.

"Anyway," he said, "both of us got here and brought the machine."

"Yes," said the first headquarters man. "But you had a messy time of it over Sugar Lump pass."

Jake might have been a little weak around the lamp posts.

Beauty may be only skin deep, but the plump girl gets the most joy rides.

It is easier for a man to be the architect of his own fortune than to be the builder.

EASIER TO STOP NOW

It is easier to check a bronchial cough now than later. Coughs grow worse the longer they continue. Foley's Honey and Tar stops tickling in throat, allays inflammation and irritation, restores sore and discharging membranes to healthy condition, opens congested air passages, and affords longed for relief.—Hite's Drug Store.

PRAIRIE DOGS INVADE CITY

Mysterious Couple Take Up Life In Kansas City Business District and Make Friends.

Kansas City.—Without any visible means of support, and with only enough furniture and luggage to start light housekeeping, two Kansas prairie dogs took lodging under a wall here last spring. A shy, retiring couple, they seemed to shun society. They were never at home to callers.

But sometimes, on sunny afternoons, the employees of the printing company next door could see the little animals emerge from their hole under the wall and play among the rubbish and fragments of old pavement in the yard. By and by the prairie dogs learned the printers meant no harm, and accepted small favors, such as bunches of sweet grass, nuts and apples, from them.

No one knows where the prairie dogs came from. One man said they escaped from a circus menagerie. Another held the theory they had run away from someone who had tried to tame them and make them into household pets.

At any rate, there they are, next door to Kansas City's business district. The appearance of strangers on their doorstep is a signal for retirement to the depths of their hole-in-the-wall. A photographer waited more than an hour to get a glimpse of the prairie dogs. Finally he was compelled to take the picture from the interior of the printshop, thrusting the camera through the window.

WED IN SLEEP; ASKS DIVORCE

Woman Says Husband Had Power of Putting Her in Trance, and That He Treated Her Cruelly.

Reading, Pa.—Alleging that she was in a trance during her marriage ceremony, and that the wedding was not a voluntary act on her part, Mrs. Lottie F. Mead, a well-known Penn street store saleswoman, has brought suit in court here for divorce from Charles H. Mead, residence unknown, on the ground of cruel treatment.

In her petition filed with the court Mrs. Mead says that she was married on August 8, 1915, at Stone Harbor, while "she was stupefied and was not aware of her existence."

She alleges that her husband had the power of putting her into a trance. Mrs. Mead says that later her husband told her that he married her only for a joke, and to get possession of her inheritance, saying that he had already run through two, that of his mother and his daughter. Mrs. Mead says her husband told her that his first wife lasted only a year and his second wife only five years. The court granted a subpoena.

E. J. H. S. NOTES

The second grade of the Central School has the record for the best attendance during the first month, with a percentage of 98.9.

The total enrollment of the schools for the month of September was exactly 600. This enrollment is 32 below the enrollment for the first month last year.

The Soils class has collected samples of 20 different kinds of soils found in this vicinity.

The high school foot ball team was defeated in its first game at Boyne City week before last by the score of 40 to 9. The team met Charlevoix at that place last Friday afternoon.

At a meeting of the Board of Education held Monday evening, Oct. 2nd, it was allowed to purchase a new typewriter for the use of the commercial department. This was made necessary by the large number of students taking stenography.

Dr. Etta Shaw, state lecturer for the W. C. T. U. gave two very interesting talks for the high school and the children of the central school on last Thursday morning.

There are 32 non-resident pupils in the high school this year.

The WestSide Kindergarten is enjoying the use of the piano which was moved down for them from the upper rooms.

The Board of Education has appropriated $15.00 to be used for the purchase of material for making play ground apparatus.

Because of the football game at Charlevoix last Friday, the high school was operated on the one session plan, classes beginning at eight o'clock in the morning and running continuously until one o'clock. This schedule permitted of all classes being given full time and allowed the football boys and others who wished to attend the game, to do so without losing any of their class work.
